At the top, the text "My Account" should be renamed to "Account Settings".

To avoid having separate fields for each account, add a dropdown menu "Select Account" - once an account is selected, the relevant data should populate the corresponding fields. In the password fields on the right side, add an Eye icon that, when clicked, reveals the password in the field.

Add a "Select Account" dropdown menu so that settings can be changed per account individually.

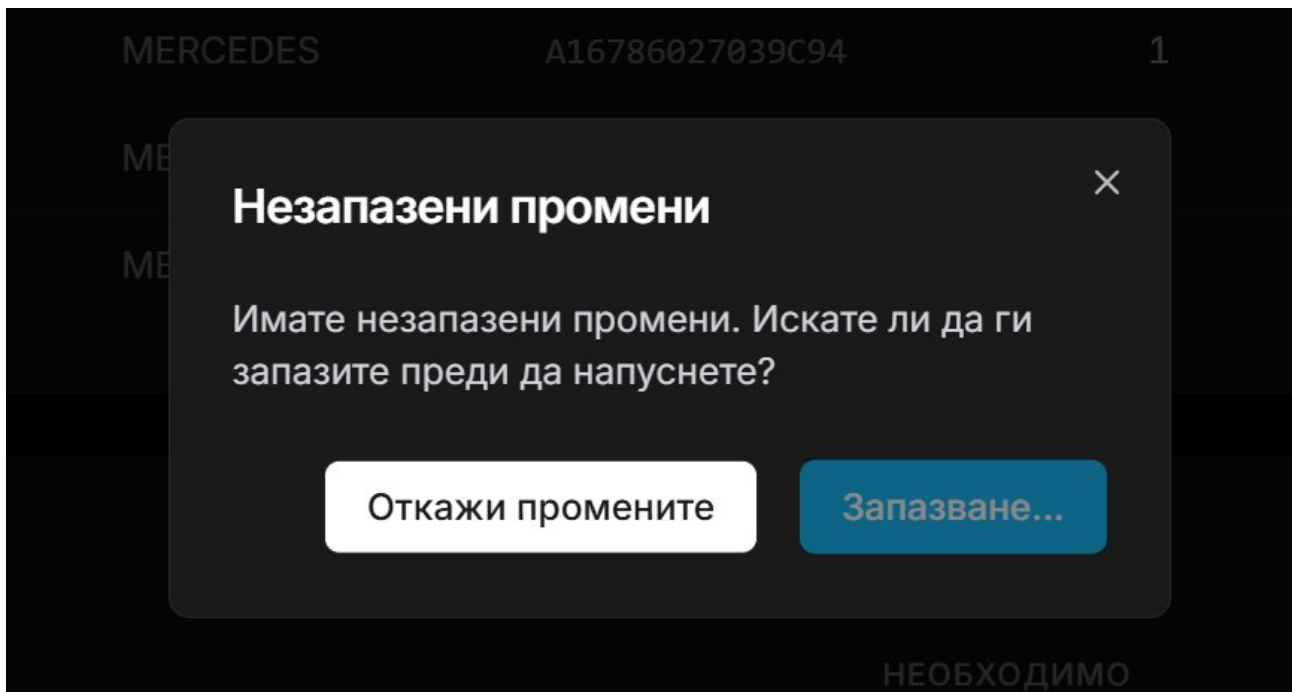

Add a "Document Creators" section with the ability to add a new creator or remove one.

Add an "Hourly Rate" section - so we can change the default hourly rate.

Add an "Earnings" section containing: Mechanic Earnings - Hourly Rate. Receptionist Earnings - % of turnover.

When I change something in the quote, the Save button remains inactive - it only becomes active if I rearrange two rows. The saving issue persists: when I spend more time in the quote, writing or editing, and finally click Save, it just keeps loading and nothing happens. It even freezes when trying to exit. ☹

Next to this panel, add an "Earnings" panel (rearrange the notes and discount percentages so the new panel fits to the right of this one). It should contain:

Mechanic Earnings - with a "Select Mechanic" dropdown underneath, followed by Hourly Rate and Repair Time fields, and a "Save" button.

Receptionist Earnings - with a "Select Receptionist" dropdown underneath, followed by % of Turnover and Repair Total fields, and a Save button.

Here you add an "Earnings" button accordingly.

There should be two panels side by side - "Mechanic Earnings" and "Receptionist Earnings" - both containing a "Select Mechanic" and "Select Receptionist" dropdown respectively. When a mechanic or receptionist is selected, their earnings files should load. There should also be something like a log file in a clearly visible place showing the total accumulated earnings for each worker and their actual salary to date. When an earning is selected from a quote and saved for a particular worker, it should be added to a monthly file containing the following sections: Vehicle - Repair Name - Repair Time - Hourly Rate - Total Amount - Date.

This is the sample earnings sheet we use - you will design a nicer one based on all the required sections. The title at the top could be something like "Earnings for Georgi Mihailov - March 2026".

"Total Earnings" sums up everything earned.

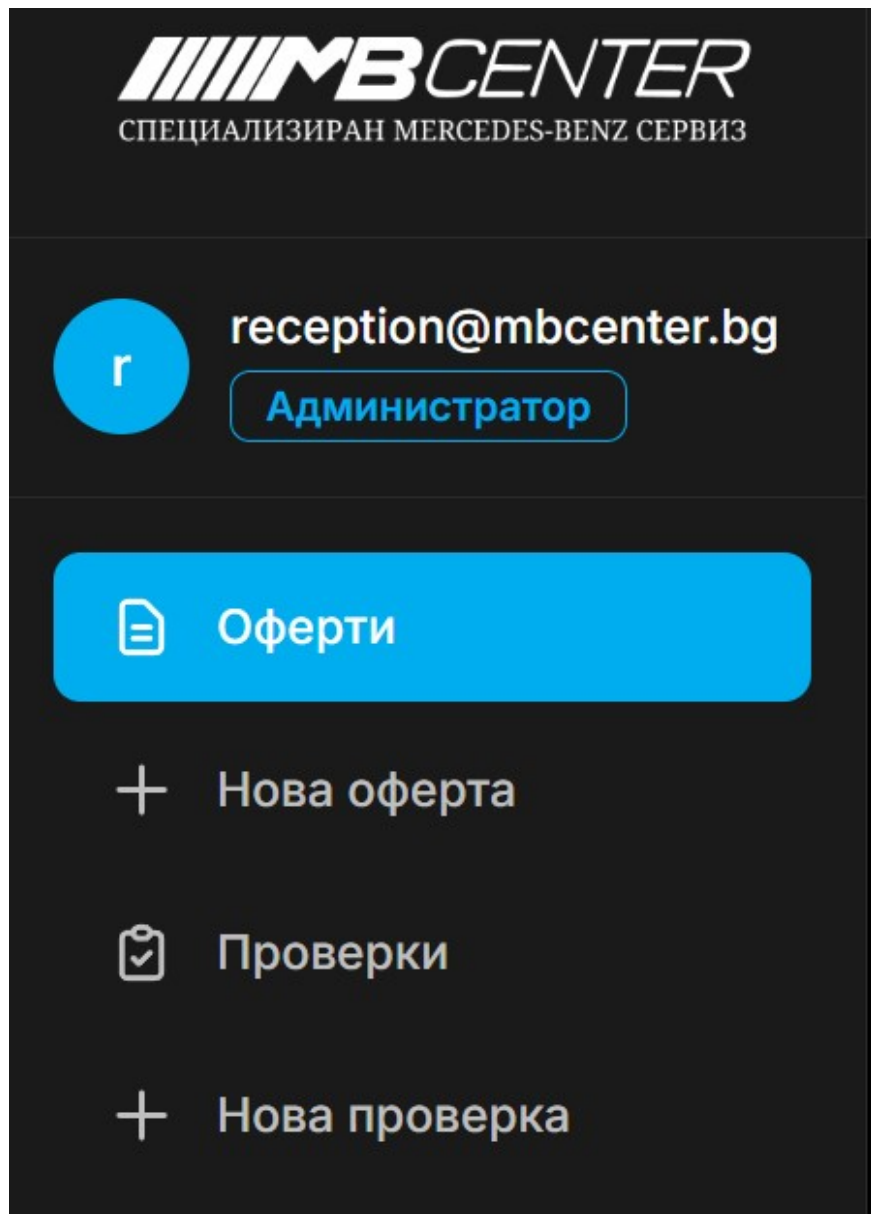

Net 50% - divides the total in half (we give them half of what was earned as labour).

"Card" field - will be entered manually at month-end, and the amount must have a minus sign in front since we deduct it from their earnings. The "Euro Correction" field will not be included, as we currently round down manually - once you create the earnings system, it will calculate the rate precisely. There should also be a "Fines" field below "Card", which only appears if a value has been entered.

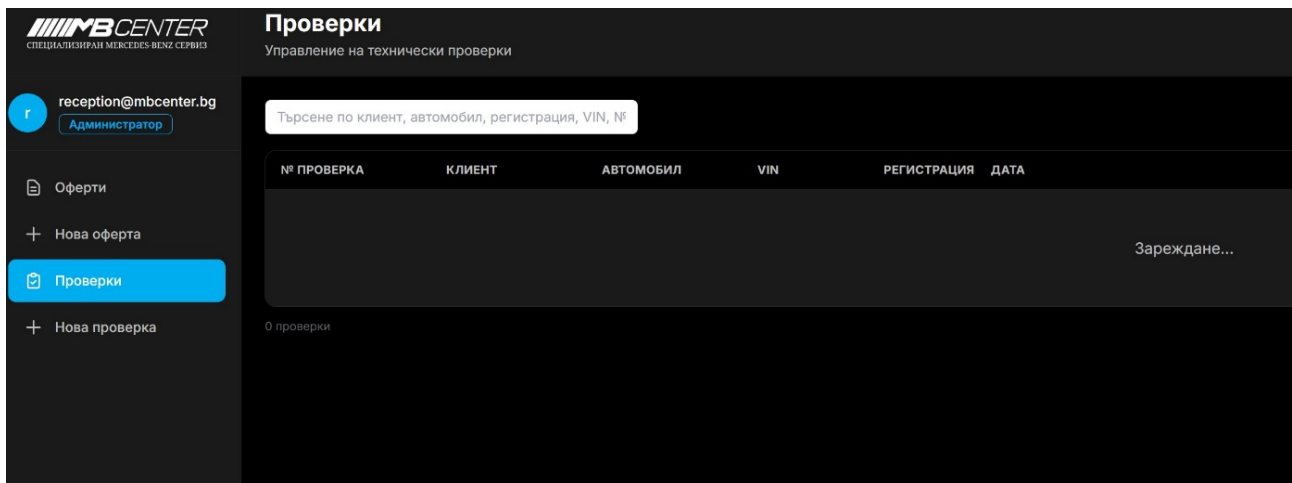

At the bottom right, there should be a date, time, and employee signature.

For the Receptionist it is the same, except there will be no hourly earnings - only a percentage of turnover. For example: Vehicle - Repair Name - Total Repair Amount - Rate % - Earnings - Date.

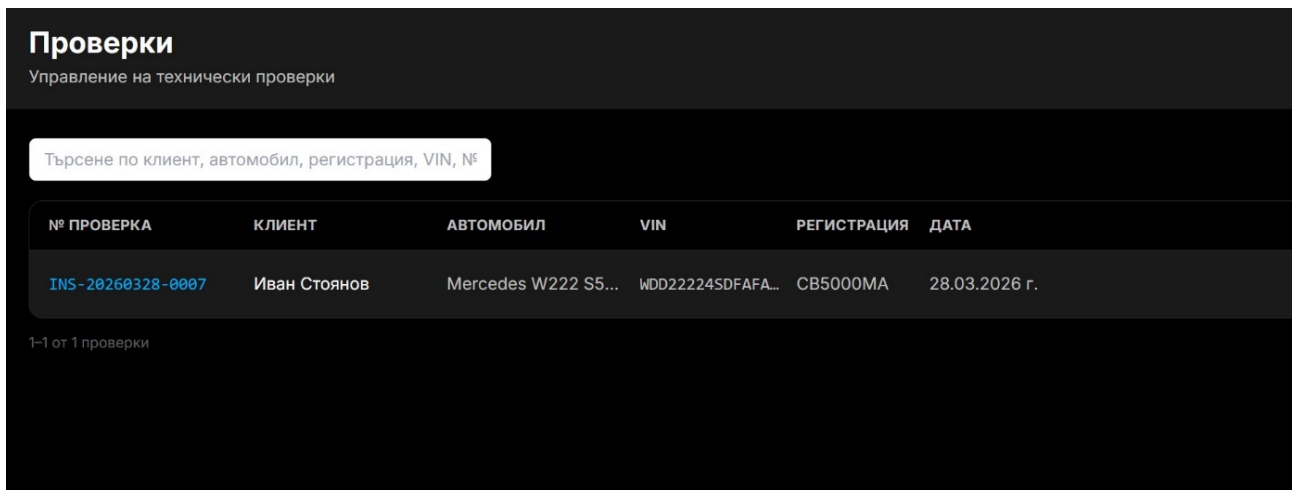

Below that, there should be a "Fixed" row. In general, the bottom section will contain: Total Earnings, Fixed, Card, Cash, and Total Salary. The "Total Salary" row will calculate the sum received in cash plus the card amount.

In the reception account, rename the text "Administrator" to "Reception".

When you click on "Inspections", it keeps loading until you refresh the page - not always, but it does happen. Rename the "Inspections" button to "Reviews".

Spread out the sections so they do not get hidden, and where it says "Registration" rename it to "Reg. Number". Each review should have a "Create Quote" option that carries over the main car and client data into a new quote.

There is a light grey background on the entire summary section - remove it, as it will use extra toner :D.
Keep only the sections for the totals and the amount due coloured as they currently are.

The signature and stamp field - if possible, shorten it slightly (I will send you a PDF showing how much I shortened it and where I moved the "Signature and Stamp" label), and instead of a solid line use faint dotted points - something greyish perhaps... (apply this to the quotes as well).
